The National Legislative Association on Prescription Drug Prices is a policy and advocacy organization made up of state legislators. We help our members identify best practices and provide technical assistance during the legislative process to legislators seeking to reduce the cost of prescription drugs and increase access to affordable medicines. We are funded by our members, not the pharmaceutical industry, so we can be objective and free of conflicts of interest.

- Our Newsletter: The National Legislative Association on Prescription Drug Prices (NLARx) is committed to providing the single best source of news about state and national policy initiatives as well as the pharmaceutical industry's activities.
- Meetings and Workshops: NLARx brings together leaders from around the country several times a year to learn about the latest strategies and legislation to advance the goal of reducing prescription drug prices and expanding access to affordable medicines.
- Networking Opportunities: Our membership includes state legislators from states in all regions of the country, from New England to Alaska and Hawaii and the District of Columbia who are dedicated to advancing progressive prescription drug policies.
- Expertise: NLARx staff have been called upon to testify before the Congress and State Legislatures, to provide reliable information to national and local media, and to defend innovative prescription drug policies in court.
- Legislative Support: NLARx staff offer assistance crafting bills and testimony, as well as publicizing the efforts of our members on our website and with the national media.
